Known as the "Exterior Decorator," no person has thought more deeply about extending good design to the outside of the American home than John Danzer, president and owner of Munder-Skiles, a firm specializing in the production of new and historic designs of garden furniture and ornament.

The firm operates a Hudson River Highlands showroom in Garrison, New York with an outpost in Los Angeles. This year, Munder-Skiles will introduce a collection of wicker for both indoor and outdoor use.
